COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Saturday, September 1, 1906.

D. E. O'KEEFE.....EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

Judge Frank Kerrigan

Judge Frank Kerrigan of San Francisco who spent his boyhood in this city, will be a candidate before the Republican convention to meet at Santa Cruz next week for the position of Judge of the Court of Appeals. The judge is highly respected for his honesty and legal attainments by the people of San Francisco who have elected him for two terms to the Superior bench. The voters of this and Santa Clara county have a feeling way down deep in their hearts for Frank Kerrigan and should he receive the nomination, and it is pretty well conceded that he will, he will get an overwhelming vote in the Santa Clara valley. Two years ago all the San Francisco papers, irrespective of party politics indorsed and strongly urged his election to superior bench. This speaks volumes for the man. He will be a credit to the Appellate courtand this section would feel proud to have him there.

Capital Stock Worth $25,000

Articles of incorporation of the Pulgas Land company were filed in the county clerk's office this week. The purposes for which the company is organized is to buy and sell real estate, subdivide tracts of land. The principal place of business is Redwood City. The capital stock of the company is $25,000 divided into 250 shares at a par value of $100. The amount of stock subscribed is $5000 by the following stockholders: G. F. Gray, 10 shares, $1000; D. E. O'Keefe, 10 shares, $1000; C. E. Dugan, 10 shares, $1000; Jas. T. O'Keefe, 10 shares, $1000; E. B. Mering, 10 shares, $1000. The company has purchased the John Meyer tract of 21 acres and a part of the McEvoy ranch. The property will be subdivided at once and sold in lots. It is beautifully located and an ideal place for home sites. The company has other holdings that will be placed on the market very soon.

Important Laws.

The recent congress passed some very valuable and important laws, all of them of special interest to farmers. In fact, the legislature of this body was the most effective and wide reaching in influence of any session since the civil war. The credit for it is largely due to President Roosvelt, who kept prodding the statesmen until he forced them to listen to some of the demands of the people for remedial and punitive legislation. The president and his supporters in congress were strongly backed up by the farmers all over the country, speaking through their organizations, their newspapers and by individual letters. This shows that the people can get what they want if they will go for it in the right way, the prime requisite being to have the right men in office.

Inheritance Tax Must Be Paid

The Supreme Court recently handed down a decision in the Oscar A. Trippert case on the right of the state to the inheritance taxes payable under the collateral inheritance law existing up to 1905, which had not been paid at the time of the repealing of the statute. By the old law, which had been placed on record in 1893, persons liable for an inheritance tax were given eighteen months in which to pay the tax into the state treasury, at he expiration of which time a 10 per cent penalty was added. The law of 1905 did away with the old law and the remedies for the enforcement of collections of taxes which were due the state.

The contention of the appellants in the Trippert case was that with both the law and the remedies that the law afforded abolished by the new statute there existed no means by which the state could enforce the collection of inheritance taxes which had been due under the old law and had not been paid in before the expiration of the eighteen months that were allowed under the new statute.

The court held that the money due was still the property of the state, but did not pass upon the method by which the collections could be enforced, stating in conclusion that "whether or not there is a legal method of collecting the tax must be a question for decision when the state seeks to enforce its right to the money."

The decision will mean that between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 in inheritance taxes which should have been paid into the state treasury under the old law and which have bee held up pending the ruling of the Supreme Court will be added to the state treasury at such time as the proper legal methods by which the money may be collected is decided upon. One of the largest individual taxes which will be liable for collection under the ruling will be the tax upon the inheritance of the Stanford heirs, which will aggregate nearly $150,000.

Friday has been an unlucky day for Jones. He committed the crime on Friday, was found guilty on Friday and was sentenced on Friday.

Death of a Popular Pioneer

David J. Mills, superintendent of the Bear Gulch Water company for the past twenty-two years passed away at his home last Wednesday at the ag of 74 years. He had been ill but a short time when the Death Angel called. Mr. Mills had an eventful car- eer, he came to San Francisco in ear- ly days and was prominent in busines for a long time and had accumulated large fortune which he lost through a disastrous fire. He was a kind hearted man and generous almo to a fault and the news of his death has caused widespread sorrow. Mr. Mills was a widower, having laid his wife to rest several years ago, and leaves two grown daughters and son He had asked to be relieved of his duties that he might enjoy his de- clining days in rest, but Wednesday morning he was quietly called home to rest in the "Father's house."

The funeral of Mr. Mills took place at Masonic hall Redwood City, where the last rites of the craft were ob- served. Worshipful Master Thomas O Heydenfeldt conducted the services which were made more beautiful by the singing of a trio consisting of Messrs. Larson, Gaddings and Crane of the Mason quartet. The funeral cortege formed at the entrance to the hall and was lead by 100 pupils of Sequoia high school of which in- stitution the deceased was a trustee, the lodge members followed. The remains were taken to Cypress Lawn cemetery where Mr. Heydenfeldt again took charge. After the last sad words were spoken the lambskin apron and accacia twigs were deposited in the grave and the mound was literally covered with beautiful flowers which bespoke the esteem with which the deceased was held.

The company for which Mr. Mills labored so faithfully has lost an of- ficial whom itt will be hard to re- place for early or late he was always at his place serving his employers honestly and justly. The community also has suffered for Mr. Mills was earnest and enthusiastic in all matters which called for the improvement of his community. And lastly the family of Mr. Mills has indeed suffered an ir- reparable loss in the taking away of a kind and indulgent father who had done all in his power to make them independent and educated men and women.

THE PENINSULA ROAD BUSY

Have Unloaded Five Thousand Tons of Rail at San Carlos

The Peninsular Electric road is be- coming very active in this locality. A force of 35 men have been at work at San Carlos for the past two weeks unloading 70 pound steel rails, 10,000,000 pounds already having been unloaded and as many more to be receiv d in the next tne days. The engineers have surveyed the route and have retraced it, setting the grade stakes. The course it will pur- sue in this county is from the south- east corner of the University Park through east Greenwood, to a point near the Redwood City depot then paralleling the Southern Pacific right of way to San Mateo where it joins the United Railway's line. The Pen- insular company has already bought a strip of land from A. P. Johnson at Belmont and is now negotiating with B. P. C. Smith for the purchase of his place just north of town. The course which the road will pursue in Santa Clara county is partly as fol- lows:

The Peninsular Railroad company has submitted to the trustees of Stan- ford University an application for a right of way across the campus from the county road to University Park. The Stanford station will be located at the stone gateway at the extrem- ity of Lasuen Row, and the route from there is undetermined as yet, but will probably border Lagunita and cross the stock farm at the paddocks.

COMPETENT OFFICER DISCHARGED

Without an Hour's Notice Welch Loses His Position

Word has been received in Truc- kee that Walter R. Welch, state de- puty fish commissioner, has been dis- charged by chief deputy Charles A. Vogelsang, without an hour's notice or for what reason he was let out of his position.

Every fisherman and hunter felt this discharge deep into his heart. We, who reside in the vicinity where the fishermen delight to patrol the streams, and the hunters the valleys and the mountains for game, realized what a sincere, devoted worker Walter R. Welch was to the cause of protecting the game and the fish that inhabit this noted section of California.

If there ever was a man who did discharge the duties of his office, whose work was recreation, who was sincere in performing and enforcing the state laws, that individual was Walter R. Welch.

To verify these facts all the mem- bers of the Board of Fish Commis- sioners have to do, is to visit differ- ent parts of the state where Mr. Welch has been working in the in- terest and carrying out the plans of his superiors. Not one man in this county but will speak words of praise for the noble work started, carried out and kept up through the efforts of this deputy alone. It is the hard work this man has done that so many citizens banded themselves together to see that the game laws are enforced.

What Chief Deputy Vogelsang has done, but few of us know little about. Occasionally his name is mentioned but it has not the power nor in- fluence that State Deputy Welch has. His name rebounds with a sting, leaving an impression impregnated with that thought your hand is out with the palm up.

The opinion of many Truckee sports men is to the effect that he has been standing in with the Floriston Paper company because he would not com- pell them to rebuild a fish ladder around their dam. When the members of the San Francisco Fly Catching club were up here a few days ago Mr. Welch made it a point to call their attention to the existing condition at that point. It is believed that some of the Fly Casters requested Mr. Vogelsang to devote his attention toward having this place repaired ac- cording to the laws of the state. This association has the power to compel Vogelsang to give some heed to their requests, friends or no friends. Now Vogelsang is venting his spite out on his deputy who has been doing his best to force this company to act.

Do the people of this section of California want to see a man juggled in such a manner just because he re- fused to be a dupe for his superior?

When the public has an officer they know does his duty, and does it well, is it not the proper thing to as an incompetent, lazy officer, whose demand that he be reinstated? He is supposed to serve the public not sole ambition is to sit in his office and say "I am, am I, Mr. Vogelsang, chiew deputy board of fish commis- sioners, with power to hire, discharge and draw my fat salary."

The people in this part of the state believe that is about all Vogelsang has done since he has been in office.

The wish of the people here, and we dare say, all over Superior Cali- fornia, is that Walter R. Welch be re- tained as state deputy fish commis- sioner of California.—Truckee Re- publican.

On Tuesday evening, Sept. 8, the I. O. G. T. Social club of Redwood City will present an amusing comedy, "A Kiss in the Dark," in Independ- ence hall, Woodside. The young peo- ple have carefully rehearsed their parts, and the entertainment promises to be a success. Dancing will follow the program. Admission will be 25cts.

Wednesday forty skilled machanics arrived in San Francisco from Aus- trailia. They had been getting $3 a day and will get twice as much at San Francisco. The high wages in San Francisco will attract skilled and unskilled labor in great abundance. The demand for labor makes it the best paying opening now offering.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Crazy people never think they are crazy. Are you crazy?

The average person places too much confidence in an apology.

People are not so much interested in your grievances as you think they are.

It is one thing to appreciate a compliment and another thing to swallow it.

A woman never used powder that a man didn't notice it. But women say, "Men are so easily fooled!"

Men don't like men very well; women don't like women very well either. And men quarrel with women sometimes.

When a man regrets that he didn't get much schooling in his youth, somehow his sons who have to go to school don't sympathize with him as much as he expected.—Atchison Globe.

THE HOME

I held you, laughing on my knee,
And kisses stole, a score or more;
You were a rosy elf of three,
And I, well, I was twenty-four!
Now you are radiant twenty-three,
While I, alas, am forty-four!
I'm conscience-stricken! well I see
My peace has flown forevermore
Unless those kisses I restore;
Those stolen kisses I restore!
—American Magazine.

"What is the most popular quality in woman?" was a question asked at a Paris gathering of cosmopolitans. The Parisians present voted for esprit, the Spaniards for beauty and the Russians for personal magnetism. The Irish woman present voted tact, but the rest of the company did not believe it would attract love. But a writer in the London Tribune, commenting on the question, is of the opinion that tact has a great deal to do with attracting love.

There is said to be a scarcity of teachers in Nebraska, one reason be ing that the county superintendents can not give certificates, but teachers must get them from the state superineendent, and the requirements ar such that the teachers will ask the legislature to repeal the law. If the requirements raise the standard of teachers it would be well to let the law stand, even if Nebraska has to send out of the state for her teachers. That is what all the states need, higher standards and better paid teachers.

FRUIT FOR THE COMPLEXION

"If nervous women would only drink more water they would not be so nervous," remarked a trained inurse the other day.

"Nearly every physician will recommend a woman who is suffering from nervous prostration or nervous exhaustion to drink lots of water between meals, but many women who do not come under a doctor's care wotuld feel better and look better if they would drink a quart of water in the course of the day," says the Home Chat.

"Water is a nerve food. It has a distinctly soothing effect when sipped, gradually, as one can test for herself."

The following points have been compiled for the New York Evening Telegram by a physician and contain suggestions well worth repeating fron time to time. Every woman knows that fruits should benefit the complexion if eaten judiciously, but few understand whether fresh or cooked ones agree best with them.

Eating fruit just before retiring I would not recommend any more than I should taking solid foods just at bed time, and it is a mistaken idea, I think, that an apple or figs will help the complexion if eaten a few minutes before going to sleep. If fruits are to assist in keeping woman in a healthy condition, as well as in improving her complexion, they should be taken at the regular meal time, just as all the other dishes, for there is nothing like the taking of food at certain stated periods that will tone the system and keep the skin fresh and healthy in appearance. Eating between meals, when the stomach, after doing a certain amount of work, should have a partial rest, is bad for the skin and for the health, in that it weaknes the digestive organs by keeping them constantly busy and under pressure, and in this way the general physical condition is impaired and anatural,n ormal appetite is rarley felt, because food is being steadily put into it, and there is no chance to get hungry.

Bananas, for instance, should improve the complexion of a person suffering from rheumatism or stomac trouble caused by too much acid in in the blood, for they counteract it in a measure if taken before breakfast, and if desirable before lunch, while for one who has not enough aci and too much alkaline they should be used as desert after a meal. The same rule applies to oranges that may be eaten with or without sugar, according to taste.

Tomatoes and berries are excellent for throat disorders in the form of congestion or swelling of the vocal cords. Strawberries are a poison to some persons, causing not only acute indegestion but so affecting the blood that a rash will appear on the flesh within twenty-four hours after the fruit has been eaten. Of course they do not harm the majority of women, and are really beneficial to many.

The artichild slavery league has headquarters in New York and will work to educate the people to the enormity of child labor. The standar of the league is expressed in its creed, which declares that every child has a right to health and education, and that child labor interferes with that right, such labor injuring the child mentally, morally and physically Children under 14 should not work in any place which will affect their morals, or retard their growth, physically or mentally, nor should they work in any other place unless they can read and write. Children under 16 should not be allowed to work mor than eight hours a day. The league believes in a children's bureau under national supervision, and that uniform laws should be enactde in every state, territory and colonial possession in the United States.

According to the third report of the superintendent of schools in Kansas there are 329 schools, mostly in the western part of the state, that are without teachers. The number of teachers not yet engaged is only 172. This may be a good opportunity for some good Missouri teachers to go west, if they care to.
